The Battle of Salferino.

A letter from the battle-field of Salferino, in the telegraph column, will be read with interest. It is the first detailed account of the battle that has been published, and though necessarily devoid of the facts and figures that are looked for with so much interest just now, having been written the same day the battle occurred, it will give one a tolerably vivid impression of the bloody contest and its terrible results. It leaves no room to doubt that the Austrians sustained a disastrous defeat, although they fought with desperate bravery against the superior skill of the French and Sardinian arms.

A Word to the Farmers.

The uniform tenor of the country press, and the accounts of persons traveling through and visiting different portions of the State, would lead one to the belief that the harvest we are about entering upon promises to be one of the most bountiful that has ever blessed the husbandman's toil. Here is an example of what our exchanges in the country say of the growing crops, from the last number of the Elkhorn Independent:

> The farming community carry a complacent face about these days. The warm and abundant rains and the genial sunshine of the past two weeks have wrought a change for the better in the appearance of the crops.
> Wheat, which came up thin, and which the cold, dry spring, and the chinch bug and fly, appeared likely to render a failure, is now doing well, and bids fair for more than an average crop. Nothing but a severe drought can prevent a good wheat crop, and this is very impossible. So far as we have observed and can hear, wheat is plump—making up in quality what the cold spring may have lost in quantity. Winter wheat to some extent is infected with chess, but there is not a great amount of winter wheat sown.
>
> Corn, though backward and injured by frost, is coming on fast, and we judge that the amount planted is larger than usual. There is time for a fair crop, &c., &c.

Gentlemen of intelligence who have traveled through some of the principal grain-growing regions substantially confirm the general reports in regard to the appearance and prospects of the growing crops.

Per contra, however, we occasionally come across such doleful lamentations as the following, written by somebody in Walworth county, to a wheat dealer here, and published in the Free Democrat:

> "We are not going to do very well the next year, for crops are going to be so small that the grain will not be here to buy. The chintz bug, I think, will do more damage than all else beside. Some fields are alive already with them, and when those fields abandon so early there is not much hope. If there were nothing to lessen the crop from now out, ten bushels to the acre is all we should get, for I never have seen the ground so thinly seeded in my life, and the heads are short and small. Corn, with the best of weather, must be small, and we must have that kind to even give us nubbins;" this will draw on oats, and they are thin and small like wheat. The busted prospects pulpit in the newspapers are the largest of the kind ever issued and the country will find it out by the 1st of November.

Now all this is very perplexing, and if a false impression exists, the farmers are the only persons who can correct it, and surely, no class of the community is more interested in knowing the true condition of the crops at large, than they.—We therefore call upon them for information. The correspondents of grain dealers generally estimate the yield of the crops as their own interests dictate, and it is from this source the croakers usually take their cue.

The Crops Abroad.

By the last foreign arrivals we have agricultural reports from the North of England, which describe that section as suffering from the most severe drought that has occurred within the memory of the present generation. In 1826, though there was a longer time of dry weather, there were none of those penetrating winds which have dried and bound up the ground so rapidly this season. In Ayrshire and Wigtonshire, on many farms which are regarded as well watered, the wells and rivulets are completely dried up, and there is no water except what is carted, either by man or beast. The Tweed has not been witnessed so low since 1826. The crops have already been perniciously affected, and the farmers dread the continuation of such weather, even for a few days longer, as fraught with the most serious consequences.

The Irish local papers report the appearance of the crops to be extremely promising. Notwithstanding the droughts which prevailed in the early part of the season, both corn and grass are thriving and luxuriant. The state of the potato crop is also very satisfactory. As yet there is no sign of blight, which we believe began to make its appearance about this time last year.

The New York Herald calls attention to the important intelligence of a severe and continued drought in Southern Russia, which was injuring the wheat crop seriously. Southern Russia is the great competitor of the United States in the British grain markets, and it will be remembered that it was the stoppage of this source of supply by the Crimean War, which caused flour to advance to $10 and $12 a barrel in this country.—The Herald thinks that if a bad harvest occurs in Southern Russia this year, the result will be the same; but we may add that this report will have to be very reliably substantiated before it can exercise any influence on American markets. The manufacturing of crop panics for speculative purposes has become so frequent of late, that it will now require something more than a vague rumor to convince the commercial world that the Russian wheat crop is going to prove a failure.

THE KING OF THE BELGIANS was on a visit to Queen VICTORIA, a few days since, and was admonished by the London Times to be certain to mind his own business. As he owes his crown to the violation of the treaties of 1815, it is suggested by the Times that it would not become him to be particularly active in influencing the English Court to be in favor of sustaining the pretensions under those treaties of Austria in Italy.

THE THREE COLLINS' STEAMERS, the Baltic, Atlantic, and Adriatic, have been sold to the Pacific steamship company for one million of dollars.

The Excursion on the 20th Inst.

The Cincinnati Gazette extracts the following from a private letter from Chicago, in regard to the coming excursion of the Independent Order of the Sons of Malta, to the Falls of Minnehaha, viz: "The Sons in St. Paul are making every preparation for our reception. We expect a large party from here and have all the steamboats we want at our command; so that no one need fear a crowd.—Quite a number of ladies go from here and Milwaukee, and at Madison, the Governor of Wisconsin (who is one of us) will receive the party in behalf of the State, and join in the excursion."

PHILADELPHIA, July 5, 1859.

WM. S. JOHNSTON, Jr., Chairman Committee of Arrangements—Dear Sir: Your kind letter of invitation to join the "Expedition" to the Falls of Minnehaha, is before me. Knowing as you do my antecedents, it is entirely unnecessary for me to reiterate the sentiments so often before expressed, and which are considered the Pillars of our beloved Order, "Feed the Hungry," "Clothe the Naked," and "Educate the Orphan."

I shall make every effort so to arrange my business engagements as to allow my attendance with the cohort that will undoubtedly march from this camp, and would therefore until a later day, reserve expressing myself as my feelings prompt.

I am, sir, truly and fraternally,
Yours, JOHN W. FORNEY.

LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.—This popular institution, we are glad to learn, is in a flourishing condition. Prof. R. Z. MASON has just been chosen acting President by the Joint Board, and the Appleton Crescent states that Gov. RANDALL has been elected President of the Board, for the ensuing year, Dr. DARLING, who has served so long and satisfactorily in that position, having declined a re-election. In the Board of Trustees, the only new members are Messrs. HAMILTON, of Fond du Lac, and COOKE and THOMAS, of Milwaukee, in place of Messrs. SAMPSON, of Appleton, BILLINGHURST, of Juneau, and FLINT, of Fond du Lac. The Crescent remarks that the University has now a better faculty and a better board than at any previous period in its history, and all connected with it have the confidence of the public.—It has an excellent library which is constantly being augmented by donations and otherwise.

FIRE AT WAUKESHA.—A fire occurred at the village of Waukesha yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, destroying the building of J. SMITH on Main street, together with the tailor shop of R. KENZIE, involving a loss of some $5,400. The fire broke out in SMITH'S building, in which were a dry goods store, a millinery store, a daguerrean gallery and a doctor's office. The losses, as nearly as could be ascertained, were as follows: J. SMITH, building, $1,500, insured; Mrs. E. A. BATES, daguerrean, $400, insured; Dr. J. SMITH, medicines, books, furniture, &c., $1,000, insured; J. MARSH, merchant, $1,200, insured; A. HARRISON, goods damaged in removal $100; J. HADFIELD damage to building, $100; and R. KENZIE, building, $500; no insurance.

SECRET LITERARY SOCIETIES.—In an article yesterday with the above heading, we were in error in regard to one of the names. It should have been DELTA KAPPA EPSILON instead of ALPHA DELTA KAPPA.

The DELTA KAPPA EPSILON Society, we are informed, is the largest in the country, numbering twenty-nine Chapters, located in nearly every State in the Union. Some of the leading literary men and politicians, from and South, are members of this fraternity.—The last Convention was held at Bowdoin College, Maine, when ANSON BURLINGAME of Massachusetts was the orator. The next Convention will be held at Kenyon College, Gambia, Ohio. It is not known who the orator will be.

IMPORTS FOR THE MONTH.

1859	$24,069,821
1858	10,116,422
1857	15,839,126

EXPORTS FOR THE MONTH.

1859	$12,961,139
1858	9,086,852
1857	14,870,143

Of the exports in June, $7,314,981 was in specie.

The cash duties for June were $3,496,429.

From these table the Herald estimates the imports of the whole country for the last fiscal year, at $330,370,960, and the exports, including specie, $332,095,276.

STEAMERS FROM EUROPE.—The following table of the dates of the sailing of steamers from Europe for this country will be found interesting:

City of Washington	New York	Liverpool	July 6

The War in the Valtelline.

The Berne correspondent of the Paris Constitutionel says:

The interest in the great contest going on between the Austrians and the Franco-Sardinians, which by the concentration of the Austrian army on the line of the Mincio, appeared to be withdrawn from the Helvetian frontiers, is receiving a new impulse from what is going on in the Valtelline, a province of Lombardy, next to the canton of the Grisons. This valley which, after the insurrectionary movement, that broke out some twelve days ago, was completely freed from Austrian troops, and where officers of Garibaldi's corps were busy recruiting and organizing volunteers, had been left after a manner to the guardianship of the insurgent inhabitants, when the news suddenly came to the headquarters of the Franco-Sardinian Army that an Austrian force of about 10,000 men had debouched by the pass of Stilfser Joch, and was going against Bormio.

On the other hand, efforts had been made to enter the district by the Col de Stelvio.—This passage is exceedingly difficult for artillery. As soon as we received these details, a division of one of the corps of the Franco-Sardinian army of five thousand men, was detached, and a dispatch announces that on the night of the 17th, 3,000 French arrived at Morbegno, while the Austrians who did not foresee such prompt offensive action, were destroying bridges over the Selvio.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS MARKET.—The importations increase even beyond anticipation. Advices from Paris state that the principal buyers there are Americans, for this market. The last week's return shows the direct entries to be three times as much as in the corresponding week of last year, and four times that in the same week of 1857. What effect will this have on prices? The importations are of woolen, silk, and cotton goods, $1,000,000 of the first, $600,000 of the second, and 900,000 of the third, with $270,000 of linen, and sundries the balance.

Next week we shall be able to tell something more definite of the opening and prospects of the trade. At present the holidays are just over. There is no question about an ample supply of goods; the point at issue respects the consumption, and the stocks on hand throughout the country. The last are said to be bare, and will be replenished as soon as means to do so are obtained. The consumption depends mainly on the crops, which yet promise to be abundant, and therefore the trade is a hopeful one. The great supply of goods will keep prices within compass. The past week has been a very inactive one, the most so of the season. Some improvement in activity is looked for now at once. The clothing and woolen trade are the first to move, and Southwestern buyers are coming on.—Independent.

THE French die for trifles. A girl near Rochelle committed suicide, because she was scolded by her mistress for breaking crockery.

THE CITY.

GOOD COFFEE.—We not long since bought an "Old Dominion" coffee pot—carried it home with a triumphant air, assembled the family (wife and cook) and made what we then conceived to be some very appropriate remarks, touching upon the luck or good fortune that had thrown so celebrated an utensil in our way. We spoke rapturously of future breakfasts, glowingly depicted the joys that would attend the new era, in coffee drinking, imagined innumerable smoking dishes of aromatic Mocha, about to bless our family half-circle (the family is yet incomplete) and ended with a peroration, which we flatter ourselves was particularly good, judging from the astonishment of the cook. After doing oratorical honor to the genius of America, and with one hand on our watch pocket and the other brandishing the old dominion, giving a final elocutionary flourish, we passed the famous alembic to our "best half," who replied in a neat little speech, occupying two seconds, "that it ought to do wonders, it was cracked up so." We cannot relate all the dreams and visions that preceded the trial of that lauded piece of machinery. The next morning; we took our accustomed seat at the table with some slight trepidation, the alembic was brought on, and the coffee proved to be not quite as good as we usually enjoyed. Of course, we knew where it all lay—cook didn't understand it, wasn't managed right, not a fair trial; and so it was ordered to undergo another. But the next trial was worse still, and the only result was a tempest, if not in a teapot, in the next thing to it. Cook flew in a passion—wife laughed in a tantalizing manner at the Old Dominion, and we vowed that it was the best thing ever invented, if people only knew how to manage it. But women never would accept the aid of science in the kitchen, and we supposed we'd have to superintend the "running" of the thing ourselves, if we wanted good coffee. One more trial, with no better success, liked to have caused a separation, as it was, the cook got a divorce by getting a draymen and sailing magnificently away from the house, in pink ribbons, surrounded by four trunks and three band boxes.

The last trial, was intended to be decisive. We devoted one whole hour ourselves to the management of the coffee, and when it was "brought on," felt an inward conviction that we had established its good name at last. Wife "poured out"—curiously at first—then maliciously, and forming an opinion by appearances—offered to bet us a new dressing gown that she could make better coffee in an Old Dominion skillet—a bet we did not accept, especially, as we immediately tasted the "cup," and felt like consigning it to—some region where coffee was not fashionable. Wife thought science had better stay in the "sanctum" and not trouble the kitchen. We thought something equally severe, wife "cried"—we felt ashamed, and taking the old Dominion under our arm we went towards town and meeting with "Clodius"—a hereditary enemy—on the way, we presented the Dominion to him, with a diabolical satisfaction, and went in search of GOODRICH & JOHNSON. Having found them, we told our story. To which they replied, with sundry knowing nods and winks: "exactly," "just so," "pre-cisely," and other equally interesting and luminous remarks, and prevailed upon us to accept a plain looking coffee pot called the "People's" which we express understanding that if it did not "make better coffee than we ever drank before, that we should have it and welcome, together with one of Uncle Ben's latest "cradles." In view of the "cady" we rather hoped it would not work—but unfortunately for our head the People's beats anything we ever saw, heard or read of, and is as far superior to the confounded Old Dominion as a threshing machine is to a flail.

THURLOW WEED BROWN, of the Wisconsin Chief, has announced his intention to leave the field of temperance lecturing.

The determination will be heard by all the friends of total abstinence with regret. A more zealous or efficient worker in this great cause, Wisconsin will wait long to see, and at the time when the fruits of intemperance seems to be multiplying, and a more determined and concentrated effort to stem the tide is so much needed, to lose one of the standard bearers is indeed a matter for lament. Mr. BROWN'S strength has failed, and his health will not permit him to engage in the struggle with that enthusiasm and energy his impulsive nature and philanthropic feelings would prompt. We hope the determination will be rendered less binding by a speedy return of health and strength, and all that is necessary to enable him to go into the work.

SEVENTH WARD HIGH SCHOOL.—The annual examinations at this excellent school commenced Monday morning and will close to-day. These exercises have not been prepared especially for the public, being somewhat in the nature of a test of proficiency sufficient for advancement. Nevertheless, the Principal extends an invitation to all who may have an interest in the cause of education, and especially in the cause in Milwaukee, to be present.

The examinations are both written and oral. The former is conducted by the assistants, and whatever pupils pass a good examination in it are sent to the Principal with a certificate to that effect, and if they pass a creditable oral examination before him he adds his signature, and they are then regarded as qualified for promotion. The examination, this morning, will be a very interesting one, and the general exercises, this afternoon, will be well worth attending.

TO BUSINESS MEN.—The Wabashaw County Herald published at Read's Landing, Minnesota, is an excellent medium for merchants desiring to advertise their wares through that portion of the country. Read's Landing is the trading point for the Chippewa Valley—through which the Herald circulates extensively. Mr. E. STURNS, the publisher, will call upon the business men of Milwaukee on Wednesday or Thursday, for the purpose of soliciting Advertisements for his paper, thus affording them a good opportunity to make themselves and their business known to the above important portions of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

GONE TO WASHINGTON.—MRS. FEUCHTWANGER, who has been employed for some time in getting petitioners to the President for the release of her husband from the penitentiary, where he has been sentenced for two years for connection with land warrant frauds, has gone to Washington to lay her petition in person before the President.

ERRATUM.—In our notice of "To Cuba and Back," on the second page, for "Zoological," read geological. There are many other se rious typographical errors in the article, but most of them are so glaring that the reader will easily correct them, or so manifest as to cause no misapprehension.

THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY of the Second Ward School takes place to-morrow evening. A varied programme has already been published, to which we refer our readers. The occasion will be one of musical interest, and the friends of education throughout the city will, of course, attend.

MILWAUKEE SABBATH SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.—The first regular meeting of this society was held Monday evening, at the lecture-room of the Plymouth Church, the President, WILLIAM H. BYRON, in the chair.—The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. LOVE, and singing.

The schools represented by the association, numbering about twenty, was then called by the Secretary, and each reported the name of its executive committee. The gentlemen so reported were then elected such committee, by the meeting. The following is the list, so far as we are able to recollect 1st Presbyterian Church, JONATHAN FORD; Plymouth, JOHN RICE, Spring Street congregational, ALBERT C. BRIDGES; First Baptist, H. S. G. WILLIAMS; North Presbyterian, WM. P. LYNDE; Summerfield M. E., WALTER S. CARTER; Church of the Pilgrims, I. T. BRANCH; First Ward Mission MARSHAL B. CLASON; Second Ward Mission, P. C. HALE; Third Ward Mission, F. Y. HORNING; Fifth Ward Mission, T. L. ELDRIDGE; Holland Church, L. H. KELLOGG.

The opening address before the association, upon the general subject of Sabbath Schools, was then read by Hon. WM. P. LYNDE. We can pay it no higher compliment than to say, that it was entirely worthy of the man and the subject. In the course of his remarks he stated that he had been connected with the Sabbath School for only three years, and it was his intention to labor in the vineyard as long as his life lasted. He said, "If Christians all knew the pleasure and gratification to be derived from a connection with Sabbath Schools, there would be none outside. His allusion to childhood was surpassingly beautiful, and the delicate reference to the mother and child, the latter just learning to lisp that universal prayer of infancy,

> "Now I lay me down to sleep,
> I pray the Lord my soul to keep,"

At the conclusion of the reading, a vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker, and a copy of the address requested for the use of the society.

A discussion upon a variety of topics in connection with the subject of Sabbath Schools, was then commenced, and participated in by several gentlemen.

The Milwaukee Sabbath School Association has an auspicious beginning. Its officers are: President, WILLIAM H. BYRON; Vice President, JOHN LEWIS; Corresponding Secretary, CORNELIUS K. MARTIN; Recording Secretary, JOSEPH HAMILTON. The fact that there are 15,000 children in Milwaukee, only 3,000 of which are gathered into the Sabbath School, shows that "the harvest is a plenteous one." Let us hope that what the laborers lack in numbers, they may fully make up in efficiency and zeal. We believe they will.

The next regular monthly meeting of this Association will be attended by the children of the different schools.

SECOND WARD HIGH SCHOOL.—The examination of this school, under charge of Prof. E. P. LARKIN, will continue to-day and to-morrow. The order of exercises is as follows:

TELEGRAPH!

Later from Europe.

SACKVILLE, N. B., July 12—3 P. M.

The steamship Canada, from Liverpool with dates to the 2nd inst., passed Cape Race at half-past 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, and arrived at Halifax to-day. The following is a brief summary of her news:

The intelligence from the seat of war states that no fighting has occurred since the battle of Salferino. The allied troops continue to cross the river Mincio without molestation from the enemy. The Emperor Napoleon had removed his headquarters from Volta to Valleria. The Sardinians, under the command of Victor Emanuel, had invested Peschiera, their lines extending from Lage de Garda to the Mincio.

The Emperor of Austria has not taken his departure for Vienna, as he was said to have intended, but he is now expected to remain in Italy.

The new English ministry has announced that it will be governed by a strict neutrality. Mr. Cobden has declined the proposed seat in the new ministry.

LIVERPOOL, July 1.—Breadstuffs have a declining tendency, and all descriptions are lower. Provisions are dull, and quotations are barely maintained.

LONDON, July 1.—Consols are quoted at 93 1-8 for account.

The Battle of Salferino.

NEW YORK, July 12—8 P. M.

The Times publishes a letter from the battle-field of Salferino, giving the first accurate details. The battle commenced a little before 5 o'clock, not far from sunrise. Just back of Castiglione rises a high range of hills, which projects a mile or thereabouts into the plain, and then breaks off towards the left into a wide expanse of smaller hills, and so, into the rolling surface which marks that portion of the plain. The Austrians had taken their position upon these hills, planting cannon upon those nearest to Castiglione, which they could approach, as the French army was in full force around that little village, and had stationed their immense army all over the surrounding plain. As near as we can now learn, the Emperor Francis Joseph had collected here not less than 225,000 troops, and commanded them in person.

His evident purpose was to make a stand here, and risk the fortunes of war upon the hazards of the day. Napoleon promptly accepted the challenge, and commenced the attack as soon as it was light this morning, by placing cannon upon the hills still nearer to Castiglione than those held by the Austrians, and opening a fire upon them on the heights beyond. He took his own stand upon the highest of these, a steep sharp-backed ridge, which commands a magnificent view of the entire circuit of the plain, and from that point directed the entire movements of his army, during the early portion of the day. The French very soon drove the enemy out of the point they held nearest to the town, and followed them into the small villages of the plain below.

The first of these were Salerino, where they had a sharp, protracted engagement.—The Austrians disputed every inch of the ground, and fought here as they did throughout the day, with the utmost desperation.—They were three times driven out of the town before they would stay out. The people of the village moreover took part against the French, upon whom they fired from their windows, and the French were compelled in self defence to burn the town. When they found it impossible to hold their ground any longer, they fell back slowly and steadily until they reached the village of Volta, directly southeast from Castiglione, and it is only about a mile from the river Mincio, from which, however, it is separated by a range of hills. Upon these hills in the rear of the town, and overlooking it completely on the south and the south-east sides, the Austrians had planted very formidable batteries, and when I ar

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capitol on Wednesday, the 31st day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

As the subject of selecting delegates to the next National Convention may be entertained and acted on by the Convention, it is suggested that the people in their primary caucuses, and the district conventions made such expression as will intimate to their delegates and the state Convention, the general sentiment of the State on that subject.

Each Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the State, on or before the 25th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the Convention.

Book Notice.

To Cuba and Back—A Vacation Voyage.—By Richard Henry Dana, Jr., author of "Two Years Before the Mast," etc. Boston: Ticknor and Field: 1859.

This is a book worth reading. The author, a distinguished lawyer of Boston, relates the incidents of a brief visit to Cuba; and presents the results of his observations of men and things on the island.

To keep a journal is a good plan; to publish one is seldom wise. To write down a traveler's diary is easy and agreeable; to read the same is not often entertaining or instructive. The minute details of rising and lying down, of eating and drinking, of riding and walking, soon fail to interest the reader; and monotonous common places fill many pages with dullness. Besides, nearly every traveler has a hobby—some special motive of travelling which is perpetually thrust into prominence, and the reader is desired to notice the peculiar structure of a bug, or the zoological character of a pebble, while in vain seeking information respecting society, and the weightier matters of national and individual life. Hence it is that so many records of voyages and journeys are valueless, or interesting only to a particular few, who happen to sympathize with the tourist in opinion or pursuit.

"To Cuba and back" is free from these common faults. There is no insipid narrative of unimportant movements, no unnecessary rhapsody; no specialty put forward; no cant; no bigoted prejudices distorting a statement of facts. But there is a hearty sensible tone; a clearness of view; and a simple elegance of style, which renders the book charming. Above all, the author is no debilitated invalid, nor literary lounger. There were only twenty-three days occupied by the entire trip, and the story of those days is told with a sustained vivacity, brisk, yet not hurried.

Mr. DANA sailed from New York on the 12th of February last, on board the United States mail steamer Cahawba, bound for Havana. He speaks in praise of Captain BULLOCK, and says that man of science as well as sailor, left the Navy with regret.—"Yet what is there before him, or those like him, in our navy? The best must continue a subaltern, a lieutenant, until he is gray. At fifty he may be entitled to his first command, and that of a class below a frigate; and if he survives the African fever and the Isthmus fever, and the perils of the sea, he may totter on the deck of a line-of-battle ship, when his skill is out of date, and his capacity for further command problematical. And whatever may be the gallantry or the merit of his service, though he may cut off his right hand, or pluck out his eye for his country's honor, the navy can give him no promotion, not even a barren title of brevet, nor a badge of recognition of merit, though it be but a star, or a half-yard of blue ribbon."

The evening of the next day closes in as the voyagers near that Cape whose name has almost become a synonym for disaster: and the light of Hatteras throws its cheerful beam for thirty miles over a huge burial-ground of sailors. How many struggles with death; how many last efforts of the last resources of skill and courage; what floating wrecks of ships; what waste of life, has that light shone over! Under that reef perished BACHE, flying for harbor before the gale, in his little surveying brig. Every league has been and will be a field where lives and treasures are sown thick from the hand of Destruction.

The Gulf stream is now crossed for the first time, and in moving fifteen minutes the temperature of the water is found to change from forty-two to seventy-two degrees. The sea becomes rough and no sails are seen for many hours. Indeed, it is a fact worthy of notice that with all the commerce on the great highway of nations, a steamer may make her three hundred miles a day, for day after day, and see no sails.

On the 16th, after crossing the Gulf Stream a second and a third time, after passing the coral reefs and the everglades of the coast below St. Augustine, after making the outermost and Southernmost of the Florida lights, they stood out into the summer sea under a moonlight night with a bright soft trade-wind; clouds floating through the gentle air and a feeling of tropical romance stealing sweetly over the exile from the snow and ice of New England.

At four o'clock in the afternoon of the 17th, the sharpest eyes detect the land, and just at dark they approach Havana, and soon the cry of "the Moro, right ahead," comes a welcome sound to those who now see it for the first time in their lives:

"——Welcome as the cry
That told the Indian isles were nigh,
To the world-seeking Genoese;
When the land-wind from woods of palm,
And orange groves and fields of balm,
Blew o'er the Haytien seas."

Want of space alone prevents our epitomising Mr. DANA's account of the harbor, shipping, landing, driving through the streets of Havana, his Cuban hotel, the houses and counting-rooms of merchants and bankers, and meeting with friends, among whom was THEODORE PARKER.

We would gladly, too, accompany him to breakfast at ten o'clock, in the spacious restaurant, with cool marble floor, walls twenty four feet big, hopon rafters painted blue, where at little tables, each with its pyramid of great red oranges, guests take their leisurely breakfasts, of fruit and claret and omelette and ollas, and café noir. But we must omit much in this notice. Interesting descriptions are given of the volante—a common carriage; the chain gang; the public baths; and the soldiers. The Cathedral is visited, and is said to be of quaint exterior, but sumptuous within.

"There is a floor of variegated marble, obstructed by no seats or screens, tall pillars and rich frescoed walls, and delicate masonry of various colored stones, the prevailing tint being yellow, and a high altar of porphyry. There is a look of the great days of old Spain about it; and you think that knights and nobles worshipped here, and enriched it from their spoils and conquests. Every new eye turns first to the place within the choir, under that alto-relief behind that short inscription where, in the wall of the chancel, rest the remains of CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS.—Borne from Valladolid to Seville, from Seville to San Domingo, and from San Domingo to Havana, they at last rest here, by the altar side, in the emporium of the Spanish Islands. 'What is man that thou art mindful of him?' truly and humbly says the Psalmist; but what is man, indeed, if his fellow-men are not mindful of such a man as this! The creator of a hemisphere. It is not often that we feel that monuments are surely deserved in their degree, and to the extent of their utterance. But when, in the New World, on an Island of that group which he gave to civilized man, you stand before this simple monumental slab, and know that all of him that man can gather up, lies behind it, so

APPEAL FOR HUNGARY.—The New York papers of Friday publish an appeal in behalf of the cause of Hungary. Its author, Col. ASBOTH, has been charged by KOSSUTH with the duty of organizing the Hungarian exiles in the United States with a view to their taking part in an unexpected movement for establishing the independ-nce of Hungary, to be made with the assistance of Napoleon III. For this purpose funds are required, and Col. ASBOTH appeals to the generosity of the American people, without whose contributions it would be impossible for him to act.

DEAD LETTERS.—The dead letter office in Washington received and opened during the last quarter 2,383 dead letters, containing $12,270 74. It is believed that the recent instructions to pay-masters upon the subject of dead letters will have the effect to diminish the number of such letters, as far as any agency of the Department can compass such change.

ARREST OF BIBLE DISTRIBUTERS IN SPAIN.—The Correspondencia Autografa of the 14th ult., announces a fact which will probably create some sensation in England. Two agents of the English Protestant Bible Society, have been arrested at Chiclana, and lodged in prison. A number of bibles in their possession have been seized.

CELEBRATION AT MONROE—ORATION OF SCHURZ.—The Monroe Sentinel gives an account of the 4th of July celebration in that place, thus speaks of one part of it:

The oration of Mr. SCHURZ was listened to with the greatest attention by the crowd of two or three thousand persons, notwithstanding the diverting effect of squalling infant America, and the fire-crackers and torpedoes of his bigger brother Young America. The orator spoke almost entirely from the inspiration of the moment, and fully maintained his reputation as a patriot and scholar. Our space will not permit an abstract or extended notice of this excellent oration this week. We will just mention that it was not of a spread-eagle order, but an earnest disquisition upon the principles of American liberty in its essence and purity. He was listened to throughout with attention and frequently interrupted with applause.

In the afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the Germans had a celebration, and listened to a very eloquent oration from Carl Schurz in their native tongue. His stirring appeals to his fellow-countrymen to honor the land of their adoption, to be true men, to despise political mountebanks and jugglers, to act free and independent, to be loyal to liberty, virute and truth, met a ready response in the breast of every listener.

Rights of Naturalized Citizens—Letter from Gov. Wise.

A naturalized friend of this city has handed us for publication the subjoined letter from Gov. Wise, touching the subject of our naturalization laws as affecting our adopted fellow citizens abroad. It will be seen that the Governor differs with Gen. Cass' construction of our laws:

"RICHMOND, June 16, 1859.

"To MAX L. MAYER, Esq.—Dear Sir:—Absence has delayed my reply to yours of the 10th instant.

"I have not time to elaborate an opinion upon the letter of Gen. Cass, dated Washington, May 17, 1859, addressed to Felix le Clere, of Memphis, Tenn., saying to him, 'Your naturalization in this country will not exempt you from that claim, (the claim of the French Government to military service from all natives of France who may be found within its jurisdiction) 'if you should voluntarily repair thither' (to France.)

"My opinion is, that this concession by our Government is an abandonment of one of the most precious American doctrines ever established by our patriots for a free people. And I regret that a Democratic Administration has endorsed it as laid down by its Whig predecessor in the Department of Sate. Mr. Edward Everett, following the authority of Wheaton.

The United States first established the right of expatriation and the solemn ceremony of naturalization, investing foreigners with citizenship, binding them to allegiance, and contracting to give them protection wherever, by oath and residence, they should become as native-born. The old despotisms held to the maxim. "Once a citizen always a citizen." The new Republic set up a new refuge of liberty, and asserted that birth and nativity should not limit the rights of man. She established "naturalization" of those who chose to expatriate themselves. It was for this we declared the last war with Great Britain. She claimed the right to seize her native citizens on board our ships. This we fought to resist. We said that when her natives were once naturalized here they became as if they were native-born. That is, in fact, the meaning of naturalization. Well, as we would not permit England to seize our native born, so we would not permit her to seize the naturalized citizens of America, for the reason that naturalization put them on the footing of native-born.

Again: Mr. Cass may say that he limits the case to those who voluntarily go to France, and are natives of that country.—But he admits there, within her jurisdiction, the claim to military service.

Now, military service is a political duty, belonging wherever allegiance is due: and, inasmuch as we swear by an oath the native of France naturalized here, to renounce allegiance to that country, and to every prince and potentate of the earth, the citizen of France, naturalized here, owes allegiance by our laws to the United States, and has renounced allegiance to France. She ought not to claim allegiance of our citizens against our laws.

"Again: The naturalized citizen not only renounces allegiance by our law, to his native country, but by the same law we adopt him as one of our citizens to all intents and purposes, and we contract to give him protection as we give it to our native-born. Naturalization is thus a contract between a subject and a sovereign; allegiance is the consideration on one hand and protection is the consideration on the other. The subject swears allegiance to the United States, and the United States promises protection to him. Thus, the laws of every country must prevail in its own jurisdiction. But this is the law as to municipal and commercial relations, not as to political. A native or naturalized citizen of the United States, made the same by their laws, may be in France and must observe the laws there—must pay, for example, customs and duties or penalties for crime there. But neither the one nor more than the other is bound to do military service there, because it is a political duty which relates to allegiance and not to residence or sojournment or travel in transitu. In a word, the naturalized may be compelled to no and observe in France, but no more; and do the United States have contracted with him.—And political must be distinguished from other duties as to other class of citizens.

"The Old World has never recognized these American doctrines; but they are the true American doctrines, and the United States is bound to afford protection in the case supposed by Mr. Cass. He is following Mr. Everett, and Mr. Everett followed the European code. That code is diametrically opposed to ours, and I think both Mr. Everett and Mr. Cass wrong. They have the European code, and I the United States laws for authority. I would protect our naturalized citizens against military service of other powers to the uttermost ends of the earth.

"Truly, yours, HENRY A. WISE.

California Republican State Convention.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10, 1859.

The State Republican Convention met in Sacramento day before yesterday, and organized by electing C. A. Tuttle, of Placer Co., President. Col. E. D. Baker, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, offered the following, which were adopted:

Resolved, That the Republican party of the State of California is now, as formerly, unalterably opposed to the introduction of Slavery into the Territories now free, and will use all just and constitutional means to prevent it.

Resolved, That we repudiate the modern dogma that Slavery exists by all of the Territories of the United States by force of the Constitution, and view it as the entering wedge for the enslavement of the Free States. [Great applause.]

Resolved, That the invention of Congress for the extension and protection of Slavery in the Territories, recently announced in Congress by leading Democrats as a cardinal element of Democratic faith and practice is an alarming innovation of the advanced to the demands of the Slave Power, and a gross infraction of popular rights. [Applause.]

Resolved, That the corruptions and errors of the National Administration demand the sternest rebuke which can be administered by a free people.

Resolved, That the welfare of the whole country and particularly the workers and political influence of California, depend upon the cheap and easy communication between the Atlantic and Pacific States; and while patriotism and philanthropy, no less than interest conspire to insist that the National Republican party to facilitate such communication, the interest of the "Democratic" party lies in a different direction, and its entire energies are devoted to other and sectional measures; and for this reason, the deliberate reason, of this Convention that the dependence of the country for a Pacific railroad is upon the Republican party, and in no sense upon their opponents. [Applause.]

Resolved, That California demands for the Central Mail route from St. Joseph, via Pike's Peak, Salt Lake and Carson Valley, to Placerville, the same protection and encouragement as is extended by Government to the Southern, or Butterfield mail route. [Applause.]

Resolved, That we approve of the Homestead bill, giving a home, free of cost, to every landless man, who will occupy and it [great applause], and also favor Grow's land bill, providing by law that none of the public lands shall be sold except to actual settlers, until the plats of the surveys of these lands shall have been in the Land Office ten years from the time of the surveys. [Applause.]

Resolved, That we are opposed to any unjust discrimination against naturalizing citizens, which shall require any length of residence after naturalization before they vote. [Tremendous cheering and applause.]

The Convention then nominated the following ticket:

For Governor—Leonard Stanford, Sacramento.

Lieutenant-Governor—J. F. Kennedy, Santa Clara.

Judge Supreme Court—O. L. Shafter, San Francisco.

Clerk Supreme Court—S. D. Parker, Trinity.

Treasurer—Philip P. Crane, Butte.

Comptroller—J. R. Clark, El Dorado.

Surveyor-General—A. G. Randall, Amador.

Attorney-General—H. S. Love, San Francisco.

Congress—P. I. Sibley, Placer, Col. E. D. Baker, San Francisco.

They are all good men and good Republicans. Stanford is a merchant in Sacramento City, highly esteemed by all. Shafter, from Vermont, is the best commercial lawyer in the State, and among the best of the Union; Col. E. D. Baker needs no praise for him, his fame as an orator being familiar in every village from Wisconsin to Florida.—N. Y. Tribune.

How the Balloonists Got Down.

Correspondence of the Syracuse and Auburn Journal.

SACKETTS HARBOR, July 6, 1859.

As the details of the landing of the balloon Atlantic on the shore of Lake Ontario, some eight or ten miles distant from this place, may not all have reached you, I will send such as were received from a reliable eye witness.

The balloon was first seen about a mile from the shore, some 40 or 50 feet above the water, with basket, boat and anchor suspended. As it passed over the tops of the trees, the boat with its appendages made a track through the branches for the distance of nearly a mile, tearing of branches—some of which were of enormous size and weight—one of which, an oak, two men were unable to lift. The flukes of the anchor fastening themselves to the tops of trees, pulled up several by the roots, one or two the circumference of a man's body. The noise produced was terrific.

The balloon "fetched up" in the top of a large elm, while the voyagers—who had been all this while dangling in the basket, the boat sometimes above and sometimes below them—descended by the ropes. First about twenty feet to the place where the boat was attached, and thence in the same way to the ground, with hands not a little the worse for wear. My informant was within about twenty feet from the place of landing.

The speed of the balloon was not very rapid, and during its course in the forest, was considerably checked before its collision with the elm. Yours, Y.

AGUE FEVER AND AGUE.—A CASE OF EIGHT MONTHS' STANDING CURED BY HOSTETTER'S HOLLAND BITTERS.—Michael Kelly, No. 117 Seventh, near Grant street, Pittsburgh, says:

"Last July, while running on the river, on a cotton-boat plying between Natchez and New Orleans, I was taken with Fever and Ague. For eight long months I suffered with this dreadful disease. The greater part of this time I was unable to work, and spent at least fifty dollars for different medicines, but found no permanent relief. Three weeks ago one of my friends insisted upon my trying Hostetter's Holland Bitters, saying that a cure was guaranteed. After taking it for one week, I must say I was a sound man. I have been at work now for two weeks, and have had no return of the Chills or Fever, whatever."

NOTICE.

THERE IS A HOTEL IN MILWAUKEE Known as the American House, kept by P. Kane & Son. A few good, gentlemanly servants and a house for the traveller. If you are surprised, read by the Avery Nesbitt House. But I look at the many puffs in the different papers throughout our State for the past few weeks, a stranger would suppose that the Newhall House was the only Hotel not only in Milwaukee but west of New York City; or in other words, by their dead-beating goes a great way.

HEAVEN.

BY E. L. BULWER.

Is Heaven a place where pearly streams
Glide over silver sand?
Like childhood's rosy, dazzling dreams,
Of some far fairy land?
Is Heaven a clime where diamond dews
Glitter on fadeless flowers,
And mirth and music ring around,
To while away the hours?

Ah no! not such, not such is Heaven!
Surpassing far all these;
Such cannot be the guerdon given
Man's weary soul to please.
For saint and sinner both below
Such pain to be, have proved;
And the pure spirit will despise
Whate'er the sense hath loved.

There we shall dwell with Sire and Son,
And with the Mother Maid,
And with the Holy Spirit one,
In glory like seraph;
And not to one created thing,
Shall our embraces be given;
But all our joy shall be in God,
For only God is Heaven.

Foreign News.

From the London News, June 24.

The advance of a Prussian army to the Rhine, after a grave diplomatic disagreement with France, such as the rejection of an offer of mediation, would have a seriousness which would be incontestible. But that is not the present situation. Although the Prussian government has announced its intention to interfere diplomatically for the restoration of peace, it has not yet thought the time come for proposing bases of pacification to France. Much therefore remains to be done before a case for the employment of these troops can arise. Prussia arms in order that when the time for mediation comes she may intervene with effect.

It follows from what we have stated that the reports of the Belgian papers respecting the terms of Prussian mediation are premature. Should the conflict on the Mincio prove of a decisive character, and not degenerate, owing to the successful resistance of the fortresses, into a protracted war, the diplomatic intervention of Prussia will probably follow the first great battle. Early in the week we noticed the prevalent rumor that a treaty had been concluded between Austria and Prussia with reference to this war. We are enabled to state that this report is completely erroneous.

While making extracts, I will inclose for you the following which will give your readers some idea of how the Emperor Napoleon has things done. It is from the letter of a person present when the Emperor ordered a bridge to be thrown over the Ticino for the passage of the Imperial Guard:

"His Majesty sent for the captain of the pontoneers and asked him how long it would take to make a passage for the army. 'Two hours and a half, Sire,' was the reply. The Emperor took out his watch and said, 'Captain, I give you an hour and a quarter.'—'We will try and do it, Sire,' replied the captain, 'No,' said the Emperor, 'do not merely try—do it.' The first boats were soon moored, and the Emperor, in spite of the observations of his generals and aides-de-camp jumped on this commencement of a bridge. The fastenings, not yet properly secured, were in great danger of being driven away by the current, and his Majesty was again cautioned, but made no reply. As another boat was fastened to the first, the Emperor continued to advance, and as a workman hastened to pass him, he said in a loud tone, 'Make haste,' to increase his speed. In an hour and a quarter the bridge was secured on both banks, and the brigade of General Clere rushed over it to meet the Austrians. The captain the pontoneers was standing on the bank of the river wiping his forehead when the Emperor went up to him, and shaking him by the hand said, 'Captain, I thank you.'"

THE PAPAL STATES.

PARIS, Thursday Evening.—The bloody conflict at Perugia, between the Pope's Swiss guards and the people, is considered in government circles as a deplorable event. It no doubt tends greatly to increase the difficulty of the task which the French Emperor has undertaken of preserving the temporal dominion of the Pope while emancipating Italy from the Austrian yoke. The papal forces are confessedly inadequate to repress the National movement which has broken out in many large towns of the States of the Church. The policy of selecting a little mountainous village like Perugia, where the population is too small to offer perpetual resistance, for shedding blood in the name of papal authority, may well be doubted.

The event is likely to double the intensity of the revolutionary movement in Bologna, and to excite insurrection in all the disaffected parts of the Papal States that have hitherto remained tranquil. The Romans, rightly or wrongly, considered themselves included in the Emperor Napoleon's Milan proclamation, addressed to the "Italian people," and claim the benefit of his promise that the French army shall not interfere with the manifestation of their "legitimate wishes." Unless, however the Swiss blindings, now masters of Perugia, shall be supported by French troops, nothing is more likely than that they will speedily be driven out by an overwhelming national force.

From the London Times of June 25.

THE CRITICAL POSITION OF GERMANY.

Prussia has at length been so far influenced by the demands of the minor German Courts and the roused passions of the German people as to have determined, it is said, to make propositions to France, the rejection of which will be followed by some decided step on the part of the government at Berlin. We cannot say that we have been unprepared for such an event. Any one possessed of the smallest knowledge of Continental politics must have been aware from the beginning of these disturbances that the invasion of Austrian territory by France would sooner or later bring the Emperor Napoleon into some kind of collision with Northern Germany.—The Prussian Regentis not now dragging his subjects into a quarrel in which they feel no concern; on the contrary, he and the other German Princes find it almost necessary for the preservation of their throne to make some move in sympathy with the agitation which prevails throughout Germany. Whether there be time now to arrest the movement, whether the present English government will be able to prevent the threatened rupture, we cannot pretend to say.

COMMERCIAL.

TUESDAY, July 12th, 1859.

Money Matters, &c.

The most prominent feature in financial circles just now is extreme quietness. The supply of money on the market is fully equal to the demand, which is very moderate. Discounts 10 ₱ cent. Outside rates 1 to 2 ₱ cent a month. The market for exchange is heavy at 1¾ premium. Gold selling at the same rate.

We observe indications of an improvement at Chicago. The Press & Tribune of to-day, says:

As we anticipated, exchange went down to 2 ₱ cent to-day. Outsiders have sold freely at 1¾, and there is still plenty of room for "current rates" to come down to these figures. The demand is light, and should it continue so, rates must go to a more reasonable figure.

The buying rates for gold to-day are 1¾ premium. There is very little demand from any source.

Discount easy at legal rates, viz: 10 per cent. There is very little business doing outside of the banks, and rates are nominal in the street at 1@2 ₱ cent ₱ month.

Breadstuffs, &c.

Receipts.

	Flour, bbls.	Wheat, bus.	Oats, bus.	Corn, bus.	Barley, bus.	Rye, bus.
By M&Mis RR	115	1,795	800	300	....	....
By M&M RR.	....	1,000	....	....	....	....
Total,	115	2,795	800	300	....	....

Shipments.

To Buffalo	845	200	....	....	....	....

Wheat underwent another decline of 2 to 3 cents, No. 1 spring selling at 56@57c, and extra club at $1,10 to $1,12½. There was, however, more activity in the market, sales on 'Change exceeding 4,000 bushels. A couple of small lots of flour sold at $5 for spring extra country brands, and $6 for whiter. Corn was not so firm, and the sales show a wider range in prices. Oats declined 1 to 2c, very few lots going beyond 32c. Potatoes very dull at 45 to 65c for common to choice qualities. Wool steady. Highwines advanced 1c. Hides firm. Other articles remain generally unchanged.

CHICAGO, JULY 11.—Receipts, according to the Press & Tribune, 615 bbls flour, 5,710 bus wheat, 14,736 bus corn, 2,251 bus oats. Shipments: 1,100 bbls flour, 3,265 bus wheat, 2,000 bus corn.

The wheat market opened dull and depressed, and buyers had the decided advantage—especially in spring, which declined 1@2c on the closing prices of Saturday. There was a better inquiry for No. 1 red, and a shade higher prices paid. The transactions in all grades amount to about 32,000 bus at $1,20 for new No. 1 red; $1,12@1,15 for old No. 1 red; 75@76c for standard spring; and 66c for No. 2 spring—the market closing quiet at about 70c for standard. Flour was dull. Corn was active, and at the opening very firm, but towards the close declined 1c. The transactions foot up about 68,000 bus all kinds, at 70c f. o. b. for choice river yellow; 71@72c for Canal afloat; 69@70c for No. 1 in store; 66@68c for No. 2; and 65c for rejected—the market closing dull at the inside quotations. Oats were more active, and an advance of 1c was paid. About 6,000 bushels changed hands at 28@29c for No. 1 in store, and 30@31c for No. 2 afloat. Nothing doing in rye or barley. Highwines quiet and nominal at 20c. Alcohol 35c. Provisions inactive. Wool firm, hides scarce and in good demand. Live stock in better request. Freights unchanged. Engagements to Oswego at 3½c, and corn to Buffalo at 2½c.

PREMIUMS OFFERED FOR THE BEST WHEAT.—At a meeting of the Chicago Board of Trade, on the 11th inst., it was resolved that the following prizes be offered for the best samples of Illinois wheat, to be exhibited at the Fair of the United States Agricultural Society, to be held in Chicago, in September next: $2,00 ₱ bus for the best 100 bus spring wheat; $2,25 ₱ bus for the best 100 bus red winter wheat; $2,50 for the best 100 bus white winter wheat—the Board of Trade to take the wheat and distribute it for seed this fall and next spring.

THE WOOL TRADE.—In its weekly review of the markets the Detroit Tribune, of Monday evening, says in regard to wool:

The receipts are heavy, though a shade below those of last week, amounting to some 461,000 lbs. They will not be sensibly affected by this week's sales during the week comprise only a few lots, mostly of superior quality, with title for the outside figure. The season's trade may be considered about over.

At Chicago the range of prices is about the same as in this market, the best qualities seldom going beyond 50 and 40 cents.

The Erie Gazette says—"The schooner T. G. Gill sunk off Barcelona on Sunday morning, in consequence of a leak, and the cook, named John M. Barley, drowned. The wind was blowing strongly from the north-east at the time. She left this port for Buffalo on Saturday evening, with about 160 tons of coal, belonging to Scott & Rankin. The boat was owned by the captain Wm. Langley, and was uninsured. Estimated loss value, $2,000.

DISASTER.—The Buffalo Express learns from Capt Dickinson, of the propeller Plymouth, which arrived there on Monday afternoon, that he saw the barque Norman, Capt. Linder, lying at the North Manitou, dismasted. She was loaded with lumber and bound for Chicago. She was leaking badly, from the effect of her spars pounding against her side.

It is not improbable that the rigging, &c., picked up by the steamer Buckeye, belong to the Norman.

COLLISION.—The schooners Corinthian and Comet, right recently collided in the St. Mary's river, doing more or less damage to both of them. The Corinthian was at anchor at the time. Both were bound down, and passed Detroit Saturday evening.
